Andrea Pinna
Market Infrastructure Expert
ECB

Andrea is a Market Infrastructure Expert in the Innovation team of the Directorate General Market Infrastructure and Payments at the European Central Bank.

He is at the forefront of ongoing international discussions on how central banks can react to but also take advantage of technological innovation in the financial sector, including by fostering joint efforts from market stakeholders involved in payments and securities post trading.

He contributed to recent reports in the area of Fintech innovation within the Eurosystem, BIS and the AMI-SeCo, where he represents the ECB in the Fintech Task Force.

Andrea holds a Ph.D. from University of London and, before joining the ECB in 2015, he worked in the academia with a focus on Market Microstructure and Financial Stability.
